Business Intelligence

Business Intelligence: An essential Management Tool

MCCI has teamed up with Ellisphere, an international reference in the field of business information services, to bring to the business community its online B2B Intelligence platform known as Ellipro.

Our Ellipro package offers you a comprehensive range of solutions for managing, enhancing and obtaining up-to-date business information. Moreover, Ellipro’s database provides you with a credit rating to enable you to assess the financial health of your suppliers, customers and partners.

Our Ellipro product range also extends to investigated reports tailored to your individual business needs.

You can subscribe to this online service through our website: www.mcci.org

About Ellisphere

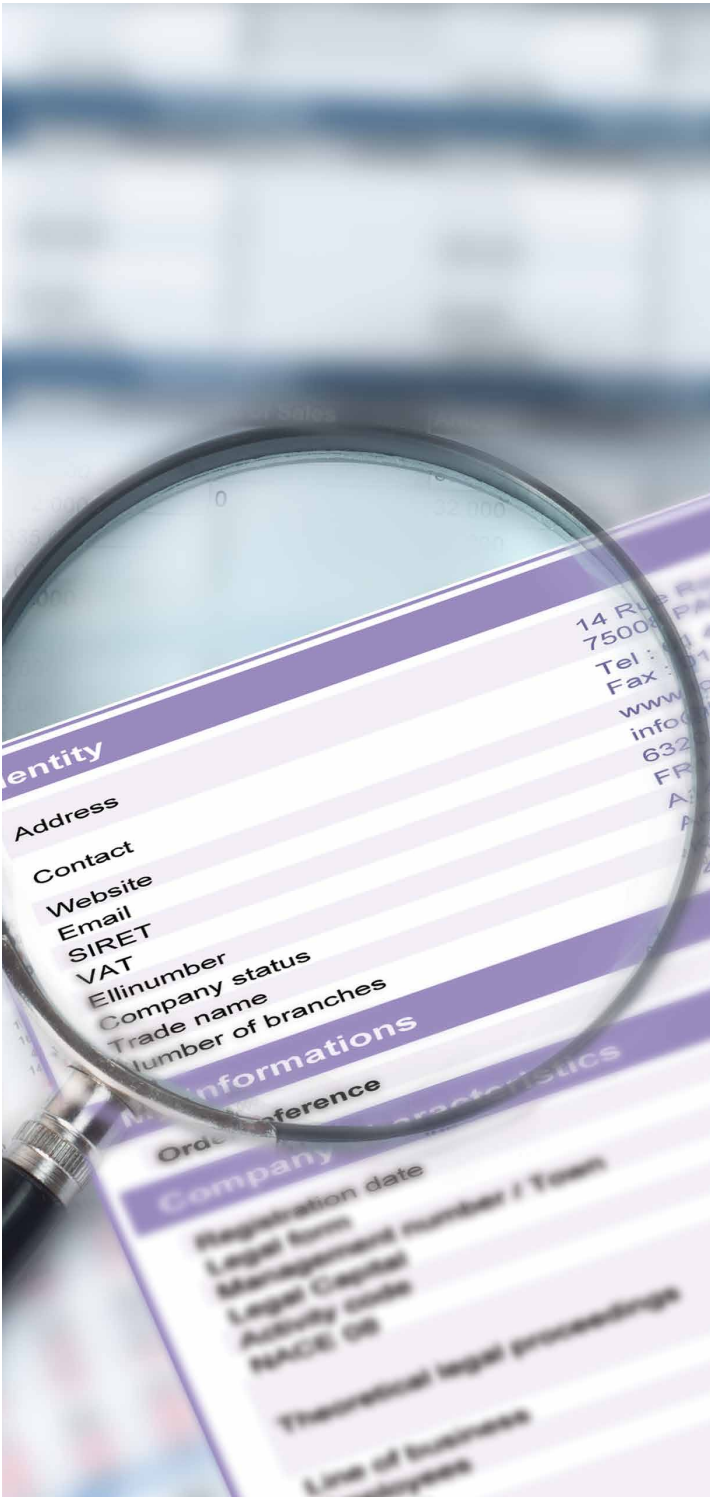

In January 2014, Coface became Ellisphere and refocused its activities on services aimed at helping financial operators, marketing and sales personnel as well as players involved across the entire supply chain.

With over a century of expertise, Ellisphere (Coface) is a trustworthy partner who works across the entire business spectrum to deliver bespoke and innovative solutions in order to help its customers make informed B2B decisions.

Ellisphere boasts a database containing millions of companies spread across over 70 countries in the world.

The company has, over the years, built a strong relationship with its customers and partners through a Transparency Charter and ensures an updated financial newsfeed to its stakeholders.

In addition, Ellisphere has a multidisciplinary team of specialists capable of providing expert advice to support critical credit-related decision-making.

A new business approach

Managing your receivables effectively

Daily changes in commercial, financial and economic data are likely to affect your business decision. Ellisphere’s team of experts collects, aggregates, analyzes and disseminates data and information on companies.

Building confidence

In an increasingly complex business environment, your company needs reliable credit information. Shareholders, suppliers, customers, banks request information on your company and your project and vice versa. This information relates to all companies irrespective of size. Ellipro, as a value-added service, also provides a credit rating. To further refine your search, Ellipro can also provide you with investigated reports based on search carried out by its own experts.
